Community Computer Alliance is a full circle non-profit organization that gives back to the community that donates to us. Through donations of electronic items, we will test to see if they work. Once we determined that status the items could follow different routes:

Refurbish able items enters into our outreach program Non-refurbish able items enters into our electronic waste recycle program Our Job Readiness Program helps those in the community that have differing abilities obtain some skill sets that foster confidence, great attitude and abilities to work with others. Program participants learn how to refurbish a computer from ground up which includes: installing hardware & software, troubleshooting issues, proper data sanitation procedures.
